Online Review:

Looking for versatile piece, this is it. Don't see many pullovers with zippers this deep. Really like this feature. This micro fleece is very lightweight which is useful for layering. I have washed and dried them and they did well. It has contrast stitching which doesn't show up as well in online photo but looks good in person. You can wear with jeans or khakis.

Tournament Rules:

This is a catch and release sailfish tournament. The winner will be determined by the highest cumulative total sailfish releases over the three day tournament. It is not necessary to bring the fish onboard to count as a release; touching the leader is considered a catch (IGFA rules apply to tackle, line, leader and sportsmanship). Fish brought to the dock do not count. There is no weigh-in; report catches via VHF on the club designated channel. The club channel will be announced at the Captains Meeting. In event of a tie, earliest released sailfish on day 1 will be the tie-breaker.

West Palm Beach is one of the premier sailfish destinations in the world. Jan & Feb is the height of the Sailfish run south. This is the best opportunity you will have to catch billfish in your own boat. The gulf stream waters run very close to Palm Beach Inlet and the water depth drops quickly once past the reef. It's a short run to productive water, 1-3 miles offshore. Drifting live bait bridled on a 7/0 or 8/0 circle hook in 100 to 600 feet of water is the basic technique. Heavy tackle is not needed; mainline can be 20 to 40 pound test, 60 pound floro leader, & a fast retrieval reel, conventional or spinner. Up your odds and dangle live baits from a kite and watch the sails attack the bait.
