

Do You Care About Saltwater Fishing?

Are you mad, frustrated and confused at all the rules and regulations regarding saltwater fishing that do not seem to make sense?

Dr. Roy Crabtree will be speaking at the Atlanta Saltwater Sportsman Club meeting March 10th, 7:00 PM at the Hilton NE Atlanta.

This is an opportunity to learn what is behind the current fisheries management and get an understanding of the challenges the fisheries management folks must deal with and a better understanding of regulations that do not seem to make sense. You will come away with a different perspective in many areas.

Dr. Crabtree has served as the regional administrator of NOAA Fisheries Service's Southeast Regional Office since January 2003. His office works with three regional fishery management councils (Caribbean, Gulf, and South Atlantic) to conserve and manage marine fishery resources in federal waters from North Carolina through Texas, including Puerto Rico and the U.S. Virgin Islands.
